Why Your Brand Is Worth More Than Your

Skills

Two stylists can have identical technical ability. The one with a stronger brand charges more, fills their books faster, attracts better clients, and weathers slow seasons without panicking. Brand is not about logos or fonts — it is about how people feel when they interact with you, and how consistently you communicate who you are.

This kit walks you through building every layer of your brand: your positioning, your voice, your visual identity guidelines, and the content templates that make showing up consistently effortless.

What Is a Brand Kit?

A brand kit is a reference document that captures all the decisions about how your business presents itself. When you have one, every piece of content you create — a caption, a price increase email, a job posting, a TikTok script — sounds and looks like it came from the same place. Without one, you are reinventing yourself every time you post.

This kit covers:

Section

What You Will Build

1 Brand Foundation

Your positioning statement, target client, and the problem you solve

2 Brand Voice

Your tone, word choices, and communication style — written down so you can replicate it

3 Visual Identity Guidelines

Color palette, font choices, imagery direction — even without a designer

4 Content Pillars & Templates

The 7 content pillars with fill-in-the-blank caption frameworks for each

5 Bio & Profile Copy

Ready-to-adapt copy for your Instagram bio, Google profile, and booking page

SECTION 1

Brand Foundation

Your brand foundation is the strategic layer that everything else is built on. Get this right and your voice, visuals, and content will feel coherent naturally.

Step 1 — Your Positioning Statement

A positioning statement is one or two sentences that capture who you serve, what you do, and what makes you different. It is not your tagline — it is the internal compass you use when making brand decisions.

The Formula:

I help [target client] achieve [desired outcome] through [your approach/differentiator] — without [common pain point they want to avoid].

Example (fill this in for your own salon):

I help busy women in their 30s and 40s get low-maintenance color that grows out beautifully — through techniques that prioritize the health of their hair, without the commitment of 6-week touch-ups.

Step 2 — Your Target Client Profile

Fill in each field for your ideal client. Be specific — a specific client profile produces better content than a vague one.

Field

Your Answer (fill in)

Age Range

Lifestyle

What They Care About Most at a Salon

Their Biggest Hair Frustration

What They Do Before Booking a New Stylist

Where They Spend Time Online

What Would Make Them Switch Salons

What Would Make Them Stay Forever

Brands They Like / Aesthetic They Gravitate Toward

Step 3 — Your Differentiators (What Makes You Different)

Brainstorm 5–10 things that are true about your work or your client experience that your competitors cannot easily claim. Then circle the top 3.

- Your specialization (what you do better than anyone else in your area)
- Your process (how you approach consultations, services, or client relationships differently)
- Your client experience (what people say about being in your chair)
- Your education or training (certifications, techniques, continuing education)
- Your values (sustainability, inclusion, client empowerment, etc.)
- Your personality (the intangible thing clients keep coming back for)

SECTION 2

Brand Voice

Your brand voice is how your business sounds when it speaks. It is consistent across every caption, text, email, and response to a review. Clients who love your voice will come looking for it — and it is one of the hardest things for competitors to copy.

Step 1 — Choose Your 3 Voice Attributes

Pick 3 adjectives from the list below that describe how you want your brand to sound. For each one, add what it means in practice and what it does NOT mean:

Warm · Direct · Expert · Playful · Confident · Nurturing · Edgy · Premium · Approachable · Educational ·

Empowering · Honest · Witty · Calm · Energetic

Voice Attribute

In Practice This Means...

This Does NOT Mean...

Example: Warm

Using first names, asking follow-up questions, writing like a text to a friend

Being unprofessional, over-sharing, or losing authority

Your Attribute 3:

Step 2 — Voice Do's and Don'ts

ALWAYS

NEVER

Use contractions — "you're", "I'm", "we've"

Start captions with "I" (Instagram algorithm penalizes this)

Write like you talk behind the chair

Use corporate words: "utilize", "leverage", "solutions"

Use the second person: "you", "your hair"

Over-apologize or hedge everything with qualifiers

Be specific: "balayage that grows out for 12 weeks" not "amazing color"

Write in passive voice: "appointments are available" vs. "I have openings"

End with one clear call to action

Stack multiple CTAs at the end of a post

Reference specific client types or hair concerns

Generic statements that could apply to any salon anywhere

I am a hair stylist with a [warm / direct / expert] brand voice. Here are 3 examples of how I actually write: [paste 3 captions or texts you have already written]. Study the tone, sentence length, word choice, and personality. For the rest of this conversation, write all content in this exact voice. Confirm you understand by describing my voice in 2-3 sentences.

SECTION 3

Visual Identity Guidelines

You do not need a designer to have a consistent visual identity. You need a small set of intentional decisions made once, then followed consistently. This section helps you make those decisions.

Your Color Palette (3–5 Colors)

Choose 3–5 colors that represent your brand. Every graphic, Story template, and Canva design uses only these colors. Consistency is the goal — not perfection.

Role

Color Name

Hex Code

Where to Use

Primary

Your main brand color

Backgrounds, headers, primary buttons

Secondary

Complements your primary

Accents, borders, secondary elements

Accent

Used sparingly for contrast

Calls to action, highlights, key stats

Neutral Light

Off-white or light cream

Neutral Dark

Deep brown, navy, or black

Body text, dark backgrounds

Sample Palette Direction by Brand Personality

Brand Personality

Suggested Palette Direction Warm & Approachable

Terracotta, blush, cream, warm brown, gold — earthy and inviting

Clean & Modern

White, soft gray, dusty sage, black, one warm accent — minimal and sleek

Edgy & Bold

Deep charcoal, electric teal or coral, off-white, matte black — high contrast

Luxe & Premium

Deep navy or black, champagne gold, ivory, bronze — rich and sophisticated

Natural & Organic

Forest green, warm beige, terracotta, cream, soft white — earthy and grounded

Your Typography (2 Fonts Maximum)

Choose one heading font and one body font. Use them everywhere. Two fonts is professional. Four fonts is chaos.

Role

Heading Font

Playfair Display / Cormorant / Libre Baskerville / Lora

Canva headers, Story titles, graphic overlays

Body Font

Montserrat / Nunito / Work Sans / Jost

Captions, body text, descriptions, labels

Photography & Imagery Direction

Your photo aesthetic should be consistent. Answer these questions and you will have a photography brief you can use forever:

Lighting: Natural light or warm artificial? Bright and airy or moody and dramatic?

Background: Clean white/cream, salon setting, outdoor, or dark backdrop?

Color grading: Warm tones, cool tones, desaturated film look, or true-to-life color?

Composition: Close-up detail shots, full head, client facing forward or turned?

Props & Setting: Minimalist (just the hair), styled flat lays, tools in frame?

Client styling: Styled and polished, or natural/undone — which fits your brand?

SECTION 4

Content Pillars & Caption Templates

Your 7 content pillars define the categories of content you post. Within each pillar, these fill-in-the-blank frameworks give you a starting structure you can adapt in minutes.

1 Transformation

Before/after, reveals, dramatic changes

Template 1:

From [starting point] to [result]. This is what [service] can do when [brief expert note about technique]. Ready for yours? [CTA]

Template 2:

She wanted [client goal]. Here is what we did: [brief process note]. The result? [emotional outcome].

[CTA]

Template 3:

Not all [service types] are the same. Here is the difference technique makes. Swipe to see [before] become [after]. [CTA]

2 Educational

Tips, how-tos, myth-busting, industry knowledge

Template 1:

Most people do not know this about [hair topic]. Here is what actually [works/happens/matters]: [tip]. Save this for later.

Template 2:

MYTH: [common hair myth]. TRUTH: [the real answer]. Here is why it matters for your hair: [brief explanation]

Template 3:

The [#] things I tell every client about [topic]: [short list]. Which one surprised you?

3 Engagement

Bells, questions, hot takes, conversation starters

Template 1:

[Easy question about hair preference]2. Drop your answer in the comments — I read every single one

Template 2:

[Unpopular opinion: [your hot take about hair or salon culture]] Agree or disagree? I will defend this

Template 3:

Tell me your hair struggle and I will tell you the one thing that would actually fix it. Go.

4 Promotional

Offers, availability, services, bookings

Template 1:

I have [#] openings this week for [service]. If your hair has been on your mind — this is your sign.

[CTA]

Template 2:

[Service] is one of my most requested appointments for a reason: [brief value prop]. Book before [date/availability closes]. [CTA]

Template 3:

This month only: [offer]. Here is who it is for: [specific client type]. Here is how to book: [CTA].

5 Behind the Scenes

Process, daily life, tools, preparation

Template 1:

This is what [time] looks like before the first client walks in. [Brief description of what you do/show].

Preparation is everything.

Template 2:

Here is what is actually in my kit and why I use each one. The difference between good tools and great ones is [brief insight].

Template 3:

Behind every [result] is [the prep work clients never see]. Here is what went into today.

6 Testimonial

Client quotes, reviews, social proof

Template 1:

"[Direct client quote]." This is why I do this work. Thank you [first name] for trusting me. [CTA for others]

Template 2:

[Client first name] came in for [service] and said [quote or paraphrase]. This is the reaction I work for every single day.

Template 3:

5 stars. Again. Here is what [first name] said about their experience: [review snippet]. If you have been thinking about booking — this is your sign. [CTA]

7 Personal/Brand

Your story, values, journey, vulnerability.

Template 1:

I did not get into this industry to [wrong reason]. I got into it because [real reason]. That is still what drives me every single day.

Template 2:

The hardest part of this job that nobody talks about: [honest truth]. Here is how I handle it.

Template 3:

[X] things I have learned in [X] years behind the chair that I wish someone had told me earlier: [short list].

SECTION 5

Bio & Profile Copy

Your bio is the first thing a potential client reads. It needs to communicate who you are, who you serve, and what to do next — in under 150 words. These templates give you a framework to adapt.

Instagram Bio (150 characters maximum)

Format: What you do | Who you do it for | Location | Call to action (link in bio)

Specialist approach:

Balayage specialist | Natural, lived-in color for low-maintenance women | [City] | Book below ↓

Full-service studio:

Hair color + cuts for [client type] | [City], [State] | [X] years behind the chair | New clients welcome ↓

Personality-forward:

[Your specialty] by appointment | I make [client type] feel like their best selves | [City] | Book your seat

Google Business Profile Description (150–250 words)

Structure: Who you are → What you specialize in → Who your ideal client is → What makes your experience different → How to book.

[SALON NAME] is a [hair salon / suite / independent stylist] based in [CITY, STATE] specializing in [TOP 1-2 SERVICES]. We work with [CLIENT DESCRIPTION: e.g., women who want low-maintenance color that looks expensive, clients with textured hair who want healthy natural styles, brides and wedding parties] — and we take the time to do it right. [WHAT MAKES YOU DIFFERENT: e.g., Every appointment starts with a thorough consultation because we believe the best results come from truly understanding what you want and what your hair can realistically achieve.] [ADDITIONAL DIFFERENTIATOR: e.g., We use only professional-grade color lines and invest in continuing education every year to bring the latest techniques to our clients.] [CLOSING CTA: Book your appointment online or give us a call — we would love to meet you.]

Booking Page / Website About Section (100–150 words)

[YOUR NAME] is a [specialty] hair stylist based in [CITY] with [X] years of experience [brief description of specialty and approach]. Known for [what clients say about you most], [your name] believes that [your philosophy in one sentence]. Past clients describe the experience as [2-3 words from your best reviews]. Whether you are looking for [service 1], [service 2], or [service 3], every appointment is approached with [your value: precision, artistry, education, care]. [Your name] is currently accepting new clients. [CTA: Book online / Call to schedule / DM on Instagram].

Using AI to Finalize Your Copy

Once you have filled in the templates above, use this prompt to polish them:

Here is my draft bio / profile description: [PASTE YOUR DRAFT]. My brand voice is [your 3 voice attributes]. My target client is [1-2 sentences from your client profile]. Please refine this to sound more natural and on-brand, keeping it under [word count]. Do not add generic phrases like 'passion for hair' or 'love what I do' — make every word specific and intentional.
