04

BOOK THE SEASON

USE THE SYSTEM

Turn beautiful moments into booked experiences.

Start with the next floral moment: wedding inquiry, proposal follow-up, moodboard support, vendor outreach, seasonal campaign, or client questionnaire.

01

Clarify the vision

Help clients understand the feel, timeline, investment, and next step before they become overwhelmed.

02

Make the experience feel premium

Use polished communication, questionnaires, and planning assets to make the service feel high-touch.

03

Build referral momentum

Turn vendor relationships, client delight, and post-event follow-up into repeatable demand.

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Introduction

The florists building thriving studios aren't just the most creative with blooms. They respond to every inquiry the same day with a message that makes the client feel heard and excited. They present proposals that communicate the transformative power of flowers before they present a number. They maintain active relationships with wedding planners, venue coordinators, and photographers who send warm referrals year-round. They post consistently on Instagram and Pinterest with content that attracts their ideal arrangement becomes a referral. This playbook covers every high-leverage scenario — from weddings to corporate accounts to weekly studio subscriptions — with copy-paste AI prompts throughout.

04

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Conversion

The Same-Day Inquiry Response System Brides and event clients often contact 3-5 florists simultaneously. The first response that feels personal, visually knowledgeable, and enthusiastic wins a disproportionate number of consultations.

05

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Wedding Floral Inquiry Response

Write a warm, enthusiastic inquiry response email for my floral studio. The bride [Name] reached out about wedding florals for her wedding on [date] at [venue]. She mentioned: [paste details — style she described, flowers she loves, any mood board details, budget indication]. My studio specialty and aesthetic: [your style — e.g., romantic garden / architectural modern / wild meadow / tropical lush]. I want to: (1) make her feel like I genuinely read her inquiry and understand her vision, (2) briefly describe how I'd interpret her style, (3) mention what a consultation looks like, (4) invite her to book a call or consultation. Warm and evocative, under 200 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

02

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Event / Corporate Inquiry Response

Write a professional inquiry response email for my floral studio. Client [Name] at [Company] reached out about florals for [event type — e.g., corporate gala / product launch / private party]. They mentioned: [details — scale, aesthetic, date, venue]. I want to: (1) show I understand the brand or event aesthetic, (2) briefly describe how I'd approach the brief, (3) ask 1-2 clarifying questions, (4) invite them to a design consultation. Professional and creative. Under 200 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name]. The Budget Conversation The budget conversation is where many floral inquiries stall.

03

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Event / Corporate Inquiry Response

Florists who handle it proactively — with education and honesty about what different investment levels produce — convert at significantly higher rates.

04

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Budget Conversation Email

Write an email that tactfully addresses a potential wedding client who has shared a budget that may be lower than expected. Their budget: $[amount]. Their vision: [description]. I want to: (1) honor their vision genuinely, (2) honestly explain what their budget can achieve and where the investment typically goes in wedding florals, (3) offer either a scaled-back version or a way to prioritise the most impactful arrangements. Educational and warm — never condescending. Under 200 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

01

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Wedding Planner Introduction

Write a professional introduction email from a florist to a wedding planner named [Name] at [Company]. My studio specialises in [your style]. I want to: (1) introduce my studio and aesthetic briefly, (2) explain how my approach as a florist makes a planner's job easier — communication, reliability, timeline adherence, creative problem-solving, (3) propose a coffee or call to see if there's a mutual fit. Warm and professional. Under 150 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

02

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Venue Coordinator Introduction

Write a professional introduction email from a florist to a venue coordinator named [Name] at [Venue]. I want to: (1) introduce my studio and the weddings/events I typically work on, (2) mention that I'm familiar with or admire [their venue] and would love to be on their recommended vendor list, (3) offer to send a portfolio or meet briefly. Under 150 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

03

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Monthly Partner Value Touch

Write a monthly value email from a florist to a referral partner — [wedding planner / venue coordinator / photographer] named [Name]. Share: (1) one seasonal flower or trend insight useful for their couples or clients, (2) a brief mention of availability for upcoming season. Short, genuine, under 100 words. Colleague tone. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

Building Corporate Accounts & Weekly Subscriptions Corporate floral accounts and weekly studio subscriptions provide predictable recurring revenue that stabilises the seasonal nature of wedding work. One corporate account with weekly flowers can generate $2,000-$10,000+ per month.

04

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Corporate Account Proposal

Write a corporate flower subscription proposal for my floral studio. Client: [Company name] at [office/hotel/restaurant]. I'm proposing weekly flower arrangements for [locations in their space — e.g., reception desk, boardroom, client meeting rooms]. Investment: $[amount] per week / month which covers [what's included — design, delivery, vase maintenance]. I want to: (1) describe the impact of beautiful flowers on an office or hospitality environment, (2) present the service clearly, (3) offer a trial arrangement. Professional and compelling. Under 200 words. Sign as [Your Name], [Studio Name].

Content Pillars That Book Clients

Instagram and Pinterest are where florists' ideal clients discover and fall in love with their work before they ever make contact. The accounts that convert followers into clients post consistently across 4 pillars: arrangement reveals (beautiful photography), process (designing, sourcing, installing), education (flower facts, care tips, trend commentary), and social proof (wedding reveals, testimonials, venue features).

03

EXPERIENCE ASSET

Prompt — Instagram Caption Batch

Write 5 Instagram captions for a florist specializing in [your style]. Topics: (1) a recent wedding or event reveal — describe the flowers, the venue, the atmosphere (anonymise client), (2) a seasonal flower you're obsessed with right now and why, (3) what goes into designing wedding florals — the process clients never see, (4) a common misconception about wedding floristry you want to address, (5) a direct inquiry CTA for [upcoming season]. Each under 150 words, evocative and specific. Studio name: [Studio Name].
